2.3 – Governance – Arts Authorities shall have the right to appoint two voting members to serve on the DIA’s Board of Directors.

- Thomas Guastello and Jennifer Fischer maintained their appointment to the Detroit Institute of Arts Board of Directors in 2014.
- Mr. Guastello served on the Finance Committee and will be serving on the Investment Committee in 2015.

2.4.2 – Student Services and Curriculum Development

Since passage of the tri-county millage, the DIA has substantially increased services to students and teachers in Oakland County. In order to serve the increased number of students, the DIA hired ten part time staff, called Gallery Teachers, to lead student field trips. A summer of training and research positioned the new Gallery Teachers to facilitate students and teachers in consistently meaningful gallery experiences. Additionally, Teri John, a retired principal from Southfield Public Schools, was hired as the Director of Education Programs. Teri’s vision includes building strategic partnerships across the county to develop curriculum-embedded field trips for Oakland County teachers and students. One such partnership is with Birney K-8 in Southfield. Seventh graders, studying ancient civilizations in social studies, visited the museum for a curriculum-aligned guided tour as well as a curriculum-aligned art-making experience in the studio. Expanded partnerships with Oakland Intermediate School District and Birmingham Public Schools are on the horizon—each focusing on teacher professional development and secondary social studies modules to support American and World History courses. These co-authored, curriculum-embedded modules will be available on the DIA website for use by other schools.

Free Student Field Trips with Bus Transportation

A total of 22,296 students, 537 groups, participated in field trips to the DIA in 2014. Complimentary transportation was provided to all student groups, well exceeding the Service Agreement goal of 16,000 students.

Art Discovery Program

Webster Elementary and United Oaks Elementary in Hazel Park participated in the Art Discovery Program. All third, fourth, and fifth came to the DIA for series of five visits that included guided exploration in the galleries and hands-on art making in the studio.

Birmingham Public Schools Partnership

The DIA partnered with the middle schools in the Birmingham Public School District in a curriculum that revolved around the DIA’s Shaping Identity tour. Students from Derby and Berkshire Middle Schools participated in tours focused on carefully selected works that linked to specific statewide curriculum standards in Language Arts and Social Studies. These students participated in this 2-hour gallery exploration that culminated in a written or videotaped assignment back in the classroom.

Southfield Schools Partnership

A 5th grade field trip was designed in collaboration with Therese Geist, a Southfield teacher, to support the social studies and English & Language Arts curriculum. The field trip was piloted by the author with three 5th grade classrooms from McIntyre Elementary. Additionally, three 5th grade teachers from Vandenberg World Cultures Academy in Southfield Public Schools brought their classrooms for this tour. In August a 7th grade field trip was designed in collaboration with MaryAnne VanErmen, a 7th grade social studies teacher at Birney K-8 School in Southfield. This trip will be piloted in May 2015.

3.0 Professional Development for Teachers

Teachers from Oakland County participated in the monthly “Let Us Introduce You” series of teacher open houses. These events provided teachers the chance to sample the tours that are offered on field trips to the DIA and gave teachers the opportunity to discuss issues with their colleagues and DIA educators.

Bringing together teachers from Detroit and suburban school districts, "Detroit 1933/2033" - a four-day workshop led and organized by the Pearson Foundation, was held at the DIA for the second year. The workshop utilized the Detroit Industry murals as a starting point to explore community-building in small teams through project-based learning techniques.
In October, a teacher open house at the DIA introduced a new community outreach experience, DIA Away: Think Like an Artist. Teachers explored the concept of creativity, and ways to encourage students’ explorations into their own creativity.

In November DIA Away: Think Like an Artist was at Oakland Intermediate School District (ISD) for an educator open house, attended by over 400 ISD staff members including teachers and administrators from throughout Oakland County.

Teachers participated in a “Writing About Art” workshop at the DIA, developed and led by writers from the InsideOut Literary Arts project. The workshop focused on sharing techniques for using writing prompts inspired by objects in the DIA’s permanent collection.

A November teacher event at the DIA modeled the development of curriculum connections, engaging teachers in discussions in Rivera Court in anticipation of the 2015 special exhibition Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo in Detroit.

DIA provided a “Professional Development Day” for Troy’s secondary social studies teachers in August and again in November for Troy’s instruction leaders. Participants experienced a Visual Thinking Strategies (VTS) tour and Shaping Identity tour, and spent time in galleries identifying objects that connected to their units of study. Learning and Interpretation staff is planning a summer 2015 follow up event.

Working with DIA staff in September, instructional and curriculum leaders from Southfield, including the Associate Superintendent for Instruction Paula Lightsey, experienced a Visual Thinking Strategies tour, identified both facilitator behavior and learner responses, connected learner responses to attributes of learners as defined by Common Core, and discussed district-wide implementation of VTS in Southfield schools.

DIA staff met with teachers from Birney K-8 School and Vandenberg World Cultures Academy in Southfield to develop curriculum-embedded field trips to be piloted during the 2014-2015 school year. Participants left the 3-day workshop with customized plans to use art to improve their communities with their students.

DIA staff promoted the museum’s school programs at the annual HomeschoolingWorks “NOT Back to School Picnic” in September. This event attracted over 300 homeschool educators and their families from across Southeast Michigan and was held at Trinity Lutheran Church in Livonia.

In December, Homeschool Tour Day engaged homeschool students and their families in gallery explorations and a newly developed Family Tour.
4.0 – Senior Programs

Come Wonder Around

In support of the service agreements, the DIA has developed a senior program, Come Wonder Around. The program includes any, or all of the following activities: complimentary transportation to and from the DIA, a guided tour or talk about the permanent collection or a special exhibition, reception with light refreshments and art making in the DIA’s studio. Come Wonder Around is marketed through direct mail, personal calls, and advertisements in local publications, social media, and senior expos. Focused advertising has been placed in several media outlets including: the Grosse Pointe News, the Macomb Daily, Oakland Press, Michigan Prime and the Michigan Catholic.

- Sixty-four senior groups visited the DIA on senior bus trips, including 5 events for Society of Active Retirees (SOAR). (See addendum for list)
- SOAR has found a home at the DIA through a lecture series conducted by DIA conservators, curators and interpreters. Members are welcomed, provided a lively discussion and tour of the galleries on a range of topics from decorative arts, prints and drawings, or puppetry.
- Senior centers and recreation centers programming and tours were planned in coordination with the Inside|Out installations.
- The DIA participated at the Michigan Senior Expo at Oakland Mall, reaching nearly 300 senior residents of Oakland County.
- The redeveloped and expanded Behind the Seen speaker program engaged Oakland county residents with art-based talks at local libraries, community centers, and senior centers. Eleven new talks designed to appeal to broader audiences and link the collection to popular topics were added, including; Your DIA: (R)Evolution, Cows in the Opera House and Other Museum Mysteries, and Picturing Music. In-museum tours based on these new themes were also developed.
5.0 Community Collaborations with Local Arts Organizations and County Cities, Townships and Villages

Inside|Out has become a cornerstone of our engagement efforts with and for the communities we serve. Communities from all over the region have requested participation in the program, requiring the establishment of a waiting list. Unlike CY2013, Inside|Out was not funded by a grant from the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation in 2014 therefore investment in the project was counted toward service agreement goals.

2014 Inside|Out communities:

- Royal Oak, Oak Park, Wixom, Auburn Hills, Pontiac, and Southfield

Hosting Inside|Out inspired the Wixom Parks and Recreation Department to organize Wixom Art Squared, an art show that featured local amateur and professional artists. On August 7th, artists from Wixom and the surrounding areas displayed their work at Sibley Square Park. In addition to the art show, visitors were also treated to a performance by the Rusty Wright Band. The Wixom Inside|Out installations have made an impact in the city by increasing city-pride, educating about art, and surprising residents with something new and different.

Royal Oak hosted Inside|Out in 2014 for the third time, and the program was a huge success. The city encouraged its residents and visitors to pose with Paul Gauguin's Self Portrait installed in downtown and share them using #poser. The City of Royal Oak shared these pictures on their Instagram and Facebook pages.

!Community member strikes a pose with Paul Gauguin's Self-Portrait

Inside|Out in Pontiac inspired the downtown business district to launch their own version of displays throughout the downtown area as part of their revitalization initiatives. The project is called "Canvas Pontiac".

Inside|Out tested new "pop-up" installations in 2014 with an installation at Stagecrafters in Royal Oak, Planterra in Novi.

County Days

In the spring of 2014, the DIA piloted a new program called County Days providing bus transportation to the museum for residents from six different Oakland County pickup points, in March, July, and October. Oakland County residents participated, enjoying a day in the museum and engaging in a variety of Saturday programming activities. Due to the success of the 2014 program, the DIA has expanded County Days to become a quarterly event in 2015.
2014 County Days Locations

March 2014: Village of Holly Town Hall, Novi Civic Center, Southfield Parks and Recreation, Troy City Hall, West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation, Orion Township Public Library

July 2014: Auburn Hills Community Center, Oxford Parks and Rec/Seymour Lake Twp. Park, Clarkston Independence District Library, Oak Park Ice Arena, Madison Heights City Hall, Wixom Community Center

October 2014: Clarkston Independence District Library, Hazel Park City Hall, Downtown Pontiac, Rochester Hills City Hall, Salem South Lyon District Library, Waterford Township Parks and Recreation

Scholastic Art Awards

The Detroit Film Theatre was the site for the 2014 Southeastern Michigan Region of the Scholastic Art and Writing Awards program. Learning & Interpretation staff worked with the College for Creative Studies (CCS) to coordinate the event, attended by approximately 2,000 students, family members, and guests over two days to celebrate creativity.

Art and Authors

Oakland County residents were invited to the DIA for book talks that combined good reads and great art. Participants discussed three books and learned about the DIA’s collection through guided tours in the galleries.
DIA Away: Think Like an Artist

In October, the DIA launched DIA Away: Think Like an Artist, a mobile, interactive environment that provides a creative exploration space for people of all ages. The mobile experience brings educational and hands-on art activities to community centers, schools, senior facilities, fairs, and festivals throughout Macomb, Oakland, and Wayne counties. In 2014, DIA Away visited Holly schools, the Southfield International Festival, Holly Dickens Festival, Pontiac’s Holiday Parade and Southfield schools.

Minds On Art

The DIA collaborated with the Alzheimer’s Association of Michigan on the Minds on Art Program for the second year of a three-year partnership. This program brings individuals living with memory loss and dementia (including Alzheimer’s disease) and their care partners to the DIA for gallery discussions and hands-on studio workshops. Participation is available to residents in the tri-county area. The Alzheimer’s Association identifies residents with either early-stage or mid-stage memory loss to attend a four-week program. Bus transportation and gallery discussion are provided by the DIA.
Alzheimer’s Association encourages those who participated in the Minds on Art program to maintain their connectivity to the DIA through a weekly program at the Alzheimer’s Association.

Community Group Art Making:

The DIA works in partnership with Macomb Oakland Regional Center, serving people with cognitive and physical disabilities and expanded outreach to more residents in Macomb and Oakland Counties. Participants attended four sessions of art making and discussions, exhibited their work in the DIA’s education wing, and spoke about their work at opening event. Bus transportation was provided by DIA.

Fairs and Festivals:

The DIA studio and teaching artists provided art making at fairs and festivals throughout Oakland County, reaching people, young and old, with hands-on creativity:

- Art & Apples in Rochester/Rochester Hills
- Funky Ferndale Art Fair
- Birmingham Street Art Fair
- Lakeside Living Art Fair in Lake Orion

Meadowbrook Hall Murillo Conservation Project

In collaboration with Meadowbrook Hall and Oakland University, the DIA’s curatorial and conservation staff engaged in a project to conserve, educate and display an important work by Spanish painter Murillo called Infant St. John the Baptist.

DIA conservation staff launched a lengthy conservation (cleaning, analysis, and restoration) and invited selected undergraduate students in applied sciences and the arts, to view the process for at least two sessions in conservation studio.

The entire project was video documented and is now available to teachers for Oakland University and K-12 schools throughout the region.

The project culminated in the DIA hanging this important work in the galleries at the DIA, in context with other paintings by this same artist.

Oakland University:

Ongoing meetings and discussions took place with staff from Oakland University and Meadow Brook Hall to develop ways in which the DIA and OU can partner. Identified opportunities included:

- DIA Department of Learning and Interpretation has met with the School of Education at Oakland University to discuss potential partnerships.
- Inside | Out installation (to take place in 2015)
- Gallery to Gallery tours between DIA and Meadow Brook Hall
- Future conservation projects to be identified
Arts, Beats & Eats – Royal Oak:

The Detroit Institute of Arts returned to Arts, Beats, & Eats for the second year, continuing our support as an event sponsor. In addition to sponsoring the cultural stage, Inside|Out reproductions installed around Royal Oak surprised many visitors. Festival attendees were encouraged to visit each reproduction and record their visits in a special passport.

Jon Witz, a festival producer, remarked that, "It was a great opportunity for a festival, which features so much culture and artistry, to have added bonus of helping to showcase the works of the DIA Inside|Out program to our more than 350,000 visitors."

DIA Inspired: Beyond the Armor

DIA Inspired: Beyond the Armor provided an opportunity to participate in an artistic response to a DIA exhibition. Beyond the Armor, a fashion-design competition presented in partnership by the DIA and the Detroit Garment Group Guild, invited fashion designers throughout the region to submit ideas to create a one-of-a-kind outfit inspired by the Samurai: Beyond the Sword exhibition. Ten winners were awarded stipends to bring their ideas to fruition. The winning design was produced by Ferndale designer and artist Janna Commondourous.

Movies at the Metro Parks:
The Detroit Film Theatre presented films the weekend of August 8 & 9 at Kensington Metropark in Milford, celebrating the anniversaries of two pioneering films; the original, uncut 1954 Japanese version of Godzilla and a newly restored version of the Fab Four’s A Hard Day’s Night. Movies began with a short reel by award-winning Michigan student filmmakers presented by the Michigan Student Film Festival, an annual competition organized by Digital Arts, Film & Television. Films were free with park admission.

The Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival

The twenty-first annual Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival was co-presented with the DIA on June 27. Led by Artistic Director James Tocco, the 2014 festival celebrated twenty years of musical gifts by one of Oakland County’s outstanding originations. The performance featured the music of Johann Sebastian Bach demonstrating his influence through the centuries. This program was free to the public.
Jewish Senior Life: Program for Holocaust Survivors and Families

The Program for Holocaust Survivors and Families presentation in April included an award presentation and greetings from Detroit Film Theatre film curator Elliot Wilhelm. After the screening of the film Within the Gates, Holocaust survivors and their guests attended a Kosher Passover Afterglow in the Crystal Gallery. This program was free for invited guests of Jewish Senior Life.

Ofrenda Altars

A call for proposals was issued to tri-county residents and non-profit organizations for Ofrenda Altars—memorial displays to honor ancestors on the Mexican holiday: Day of the Dead. Selected artists participated in a panel discussion moderated by the staff of the Mexican Consulate in Detroit, their work was exhibited from October 24-Nov 2. Artists were given a stipend to create their works onsite, and were also invited to reception in their honor on Friday, October 31st.

Gallery 2 Gallery:

The DIA partnered with the Paint Creek Center for the Arts (PCCA), in Rochester and The Art Experience Gallery (TAE), in Pontiac. The event began at PCCA and TAE with a tour and talk about their gallery exhibition. Participants then traveled to the museum by motor coach to the DIA for a gallery talk and light reception.

The Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA) is pleased to announce a new program that combines a good read with great art. Artists + Authors: Book Discussions at the DIA offers the opportunity to read and discuss books related to art in the DIA’s collection and special exhibitions. Discussions will be followed by visits to galleries associated with the books’ subject matter, led by DIA curatorial and education staff.

Artists + Authors will be held quarterly on Saturday mornings at 10 a.m. A new book will be selected each quarter.

The program is free with museum admission, and free for residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, but space is limited and pre-registration is required. Visit dia.org or call the box office for more information: 313-833-4005

April 12, 2014, 10 a.m.  - SOLD OUT

The Passion of Artemisia, Susan Vreeland (novel)

This novel links with a masterpiece by Artemisia Gentileschi as well as a painting by her father Orazio Gentileschi, making the DIA one of the few museums in the world that has work by both father and daughter in their collection.

July 19, 2014, 10 a.m.

The Good Lord Bird, James McBride (novel)

In his novel, James McBride tells the story of abolitionist John Brown. Artist Jacob Lawrence also tells the story of John Brown in a powerful print series that is a centerpiece of the DIA’s African American collection.

October 11 or 25, 2014, 10 a.m.

Frida: A Biography of Frida Kahlo, Hayden Herrera (non-fiction/biography)

The discussion of this biography anticipates the upcoming exhibition Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo in Detroit, opening at the DIA in March 2015, which features major work by both artists at a pivotal time in their careers.

January 24, 2015, 10 a.m.

Eight Girls Taking Pictures, Whitney Otto (novel)

This novel tells the story of eight 20th Century women photographers, including Imogen Cunningham, Tina Modotti, and Ruth Orkin whose images are an important part of the DIA’s extensive photography collection.
